Did you know

- If your parents are helping you care for your kids, you could pay your parents and claim the child care deduction, effectively lowering your taxable income and taxes payable?

- If you inherit a property which was a principal residence for your parents, you are deemed to have acquired the property at the fair market value on the date of death of the last parent that passed away?

Confused with all the paperwork?

Meet
Harpreet Wadehra
CPA, CA

Harpreet has been in public accounting since 2005 and obtained her Chartered Accountant designation in September 2007. She started her career with a one Partner firm in Ajax, Ontario and started practicing with a reputable mid-size CPA, CA firm downtown Toronto. Working in both a small and mid-size firm environment has made Harpreet self-reliant, independent and knowledgeable.

Harpreet's approach to each client is personalized – each client has a unique need and expectation. Harpreet manages this need by following three basic techniques; listening, inquiring and understanding.

Harpreet is a firm believer that communication is vital to any relationship – whether personal or professional. Harpreet is committed to being responsive when it comes to meeting client needs and ensures she responds promptly.

Clients often describe Harpreet as intelligent, hard-working and patient. Harpreet deals with each client with honesty, respect and integrity and her motto is "if you work hard for what you believe, nothing can stop you."

Harpreet has over 10 years of experience in audit, reviews, notice to readers, personal tax, corporate tax and related areas. She has years of experience serving small business owners, including professional corporations, real estate, transportation and retail.
